EXPLANATION OF BOUNDARY CONFLICT

Turquoise Stone Placer Mining Claim, Mineral Survey No. 7371-A, and Turquoise Stone Placer Mill Site Claim, Mineral Survey No. 7371-B, were surveyed and mathematically subdivided into fractional parts, which are Mineral Survey Nos. 7371 C through S. Mineral Survey Nos. K, N, and Q, were surveyed and monumented due to Mineral Patent Application UTU-69000 and mineral examination conclusions. Of these, Turquoise Stone Placer Mining Claim, Mineral Survey Nos. 7371 K, N, and Q, are supplemental parts of M.S. 7371-A. Mineral Survey No. 7371 M and R, which are areas of conflict, will be included with the M.S. No. 7371-A.

This administrative correction is due to the assumption that the survey alignment for the boundaries of M.S. No. 7371-B, was in error. The direction of alignment with reference to the true meridian, should have had an angular movement of 9° 15' 30" in a clockwise direction. This angular movement would have provided for a common boundary between M.S. No. 7371-A and M.S. No. 7371-B.
